Postdoctoral Research Fellow in International Law and European Union Law, University of Rome Unitelma Sapienza marco.fisicaro@unitelmasapienza.it

Marco Fisicaro is a postdoctoral research fellow and lecturer at the University of Rome Unitelma Sapienza. He holds a Master's degree and a Ph.D. in Law from the University of Catania, as well as a post-graduate Diploma in Social Sciences from the Scuola Superiore di Catania. His Ph.D. thesis, "Conditionality and the Making of the EU Spending Power: Origins, Evolution, Challenges", dealt with the legal challenges raised by the increasing use of conditionality in the administration of EU funding. As the winner of the "Giuseppe Sperduti" prize (XIII ed.), annually awarded by the Società italiana per l'organizzazione internazionale (SIOI), he spent a period as stagiaire at the European Court of Human Rights. He was visiting scholar at the University of Vienna and at the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law. He is managing editor of "European Papers - A Journal on Law and Integration" and member of the editorial staff of "Diritti umani e diritto internazionale".
